

This module was really fun to understand. I got to use my same topic of how social media positively and negatively affects people all around the world. Since my Annotated Bibliography was just a paper of my research. I realized that I can make my Literature review of the effects of social media with all of my knowledge and research from the Annotated Bibliography. Going into this essay I was confident because I knew what evidence I had to divide up and write about. When I got the feedback back from both my professor and my peers. I made my changes, which was not much too then finish up the final draft. After this essay I knew I had to one up this essay. For my next module you can see that I have changed my topic and find new evidence. I am excited for people to see my growth on one of the best essays that I have ever written.
